

Information for Parents

At Bryn Celynnog we want to encourage and reward effort, perseverance and resilience. We know that all students are able to improve and we want to deter students from saying “I can’t do it”. We want our students to say “I can’t do it yet” and be confident that through effort, practice and dedication they will soon be able to say “I can do it”.

We will challenge your child in lessons allowing them to make mistakes. We will provide them with formative feedback which we will expect them to act upon. We will praise effort, perseverance and a commitment to succeed.

How you can help at home...

Model a growth mindset in your actions at home:

- Encourage effort even when your child finds things challenging
- Try not to ‘fix’ the problem for them – what can they do to find a solution?
- Emphasise how they have improved in one area and what they did to achieve that improvement.
- Reinforce to them that mistakes are to be learned from – do not be afraid to make mistakes.
